Project Overview

Tell us a little about your project. What are the main objectives of the project, and who will benefit from it?

Disability prevalence in Nepal is closely linked to poverty. Also, malnutrition, lack of cleanliness and hygiene, and inadequate quality health services have caused and aggravated disability. Natural catastrophes aggravate the issues further. Infrastructures of Health posts in rural areas, often understaffed and under-resourced, have now been destroyed in several districts.

Although disability in Nepal is a major issue, it has not been in high priority for service providers or duty-bearers. There is not adequate service provision to ensure that persons with disability, particularly children, have normal development as others and take advantage of the facilities and opportunities offered by the State. Referring to national prevalence, if a country neglects disability population, over 2 million people would be left behind.

There is no clear data on disability in Nepal. The most reliable prevalence presented by the Central Bureau of Statistics and National Living Standard Survey of the Government of Nepal is 1.94% and 3.6% of the population respectively. Among different categories, physical disability occupies the highest percentage of 29.2%. It is not difficult to speculate that the percentage might have increased due to natural catastrophic incidents.

Children with physical disabilities are living with poor quality of life in Nepal. We would like to make a positive difference to their plight through comprehensive treatment and rehabilitation services by reaching more children with disability and enabling them to enjoy their rights of mobility with increased access to the available services. When there are inadequate resources even to feed themselves, they don't seek costly rehabilitation services for their children with disabilities.

The Friends of the Disabled (FOD) is running treatment and Rehabilitation Services since the last 3 decades through Hospital and Rehabilitation Centre for Disabled Children (HRDC) and has already served over 90,500, as of December 2018, children with disability (activity limitation or participation restriction) helping them to save further loss or re-gain their quality of life. New patient's influx to HRDC has been increasing due to awareness, intense follow-up and social intervention. In 2018, out of 24,874 consultations, 7,239 (2,899 girls) were new patients. The request for the demand for the medical intervention through screening for the disabled children has been increasing . But due to limited resources at hospital , the demand of the screening and treatment is limited. Rotary has been supporting this hospital to carry out this kind of project in past and present

The main objectives of the project are :

- 1.To provide clinical support to the children with disability (Physical )
- 2.To raise awareness and promote understanding of disability issues within the community, reducing stigma and discrimination.
- 3.To provide access to specialized resources and support services for individuals with disabilities, such as assistive devices and therapy sessions.
- 4.To empower individuals with disabilities to advocate for their rights and inclusion in society, promoting a more inclusive and accessible community for all.

This project will benefit the children with disabilities who need medical interventions .

During the World Disability Day 2023, the hospital authorities of HRDC requested for the medical screen camp and treatment for children with disabilities of Dolakha, Taplejung & Panchthar district. After need assessment with authorities from hospital and district health offices of three districts, we confirm the need of the community.

Will you work in coordination with any related initiatives in the community?

Yes

Briefly describe the other initiatives and how they relate to this project.

Nepal adopted the National Disability Policy in 2015, which aims to promote the rights and inclusion of persons with disabilities in all aspects of society. The policy outlines strategies for improving access to education, healthcare, employment, and social services for individuals with disabilities.

In 2017, Nepal passed the Disability Rights Act, which prohibits discrimination against individuals with disabilities and ensures their right to equality, non-discrimination, and full participation in society. The act also mandates the provision of reasonable accommodations and support services for individuals with disabilities.

The government has implemented the National Rehabilitation Plan to provide rehabilitation services and support to individuals with disabilities, including physical therapy, assistive devices, and vocational training programs.

This project address some of the component of National Disability Policy in 2015.

Please describe the training, community outreach, or educational programs this project will include.

A community education program on disability can help raise awareness, promote understanding, and foster inclusivity for individuals with disabilities within the community. Here are some key components that could be included in a community education program on disability:

1. Disability awareness: Provide information about different types of disabilities, their causes, and how they may impact individuals' lives. This can help dispel myths and misconceptions about disabilities and promote a better understanding of the challenges faced by individuals with disabilities.
2. Rights and advocacy: Educate community members about the rights of individuals with disabilities, including their right to equality, non-discrimination, and full participation in society. Encourage community members to become advocates for disability rights and to support policies and initiatives that promote inclusivity.
3. Accessibility and accommodation: Raise awareness about the importance of creating accessible environments and providing reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities. This can include information on designing accessible buildings, providing assistive devices, and making public spaces inclusive for all.
4. Communication and interaction: Provide training on effective communication strategies and interaction techniques when engaging with individuals with disabilities. This can help community members feel more comfortable and confident in their interactions with individuals with disabilities.
5. Inclusive practices: Promote inclusive practices in community organizations, schools, businesses, and public spaces. Encourage community members to create welcoming and inclusive environments that are accessible to individuals with disabilities.
6. Empathy and understanding: Foster empathy and understanding among community members by sharing personal stories and experiences of individuals with disabilities. This can help build empathy and compassion for individuals with disabilities and promote a culture of inclusivity and acceptance.
7. Support resources: Provide information about support resources, services, and organizations that are available to individuals with disabilities and their families. This can help connect individuals with disabilities to the support they need to thrive and participate fully in the community.

By implementing a comprehensive community education program on disability, communities can promote awareness, understanding, and inclusivity for individuals with disabilities, creating a more supportive and welcoming environment for all community members.

How were these needs identified?

These needs were identified after the request from the hospital authorizes from Health & Rehabilitation Center for Disabled Children requested for the support to conduct the disability camps with medical intervention.

What incentives (for example, monetary compensation, awards, certification, or publicity), will you use, if any, to encourage community members to participate in the project?

Did you use competitive bidding to select vendors?

Yes

Please provide an operations and maintenance plan for the equipment or materials you anticipate purchasing for this project. This plan should include who will operate and maintain the equipment and how they will be trained.
